CITY MATTERS.

The pay-car on the C. C. & I. R. R. arrived at noon.

Mrs. S. C. Fitt, of East High street, left Thursday morning via N. Y. P. & O. for Massapequa, N. J.

Rev. Wm. E. Fay has gone to attend commencement at Marietta, his former home, and will be absent about two weeks.

I. V. Lefler and daughter Maggie, Mrs. Dr. Bliss, and two children, left this morning for San Francisco, by way of I. B. & W. railway.

Mrs. C. K. Shunk, of Avondale, and two daughters, Katie and Pauline, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank P. Davidson, on the North Side.

City Clerk Shewalter leaves early tomorrow morning to spend a few days with relatives in Franklin county. He will be here again Tuesday.

A little boy, carrying a babe, made a narrow escape from being run over by a beer wagon at the corner of Shaffer and North streets. Officer Mast dragged them away just in time.

Stated conclude this evening of Palestine Commandery, No. 33, K. T., at the asylum in Masonic building, for regular business and conferring of Temple degrees. Visiting fratres cordially invited.

The Smith Bridge Company came was the last heard by Circuit Court, which adjourned after it until 2 o'clock this afternoon, and this forenoon was engaged in deliberating upon cases submitted and preparing decisions.

The reported death of John Speers in the penitentiary at Columbus was premature, and on the strength of a statement by another Clark county prisoner. He is, however, reported confined to the hospital and in quite a serious condition, although he may recover.

Eight quartets of strawberries were the particular goods and chattels which Jacob W. Leffell, of Danville, and of the value of 80 cents, is what Frank Conrad and Oscar Snyder are accused before Justice Stout of feloniously appropriating. Hearing today at 3 p. m.

Flower thieves, probably children of evil propensity, continue their raids nightly upon door yards and lawns. South Center street is the latest to suffer. The aggregate of losses in this manner will amount to a large sum of money, some choice and costly plants being carried away badly.

F. B. Pearson, son of Joseph Pearson, of Catawba, this county, was a member of the graduating class at Western commencement Wednesday, his topic being "The Domain of Faith." Mr. Pearson has already made an engagement as one of the Professors of the new college at Minneapolis, Minnesota. He received honorable mention at the ceremonies Wednesday. Mr. Joseph Pearson attended the exercises of commencement.

Mr. A. E. Turnbull found near his house, on Centre street, last night, a pocket book belonging to H. C. Jones, Esq. of McArthur, and handed it over to the police to be returned to its owner. It contained some papers valuable only to the owner, but no money. As Mr. Jones has not been in town since the Republican State Convention it is supposed that the pocket book has been in the possession of some one else ever since.

A painter named Emory Perfect employed in the Champion shops at Legonda, and living at No. 2 Columbia street, was injured just before noon yesterday, his foot being caught and crushed between an elevator platform, on which he was ascending, and one of the floors of the building. The patrol was called and Perfect brought to his home. Some of the small bones in the foot may be broken, but otherwise the injury is not as serious as it might have been.

The Tax Commission meets again tonight at the Mayor's office, the session being especially for conference with the finance committee of the School Board, the members of which will be present. The Commission is figuring to reduce the total rate for the city to two cents and will be aided by the fact that the duplicate of taxable property is likely to reach $14,500,000 at least, while the County commission, which prepared the tax levy ordinance based their action upon an estimate of fourteen million duplicate.

The city clerk also discovers an item for which a levy was made last year that will be unnecessary this. The Commission will hold at least one more sitting after tonight's.

Seventh Regiment Encampment.

Although the location for this year's encampment of the Seventh Regiment O. N. G., has not been definitely fixed, the probabilities are much greater that the gallant Seventh will come here again, the camp being so timed as to close the day before the Grand Army encampment begins, an invitation being extended the battalion to remain with the old soldiers two days additional. The Hamilton company prefers to go somewhere away from home and other companies would be well satisfied to come to Springfield. The Kenyon contingent would like to have the regiment camp out at that place where one of the pleasantest and most beneficial encampments of the original Seventh was held a number of years ago. Belle fountain, or Silver Lake near there, is also talked of, but it is said that there is no spot large enough for a regimental camp in the vicinity of the lake, that could be secured. All things considered Springfield would perhaps come nearest to pleasing all, and the G. A. R. men hope the entire battalion will remain through their demonstration.

Captain Mark A. Smith, of Co. A, 7th O. N. G., of the City Guard, will accompany Capt. Stier and detachment of the Fifth Battery which leaves for the Philadelphia reunion and prizefight this evening. He will visit New York before returning here.

GLOBE-REPUBLIC. FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 26 1885

CLOSE OUT SALE

BOOTS, SHOES AND SLIPPERS.

To quit business. Our entire stock, consisting of $15,000 worth of Ladie's and Gent's Fine Shoes and Slippers, Misses and Children's Shoes, Boy's Boots and Shoes, and a large line of Farmers Kip Calf and Grain Leather Boots to be closed out without regard to cost, as we have determined to quit business. These goods must be sold within the next sixty days. As it will be but a short time until fall it will pay every farmer to inspect our stock of Men's and Boy's Kip Calf and Grain Leather Boots, as we must sell them at some price. Remember the place,

Young George Gould.

Speaking of George Gould, it was he who first introduced Freddy Gebhardt to Mrs. Langtry. Apropos of the introduction, George tells me the following story:

"Not long after the introduction there was a coolness between Gebhardt and myself, the reason of which it is not necessary to explain now. One evening I was at the Brunswick, when Freddy notified me. I saw there was something wrong in his manner, but I took no notice of it.

"I hear," said Freddy, "you told a reporter that you considered me a fool. Is that true?"

"Every body has a right to his own opinion," Mr. Gebhardt, I replied. "Possibly I have said so."

"Then, say," I said, "I shall take satisfaction."

"Go ahead Mr. Gebhardt, and we'll have Billy Edwards as referee. When shall it be?" I asked smilingly.

"Freddy noticed my amused manner, and there was a general laugh. Oh, if you only saw me! I'll say no more about it, you know, very I thought these newspaper fellows were lying."

"That's the last I heard of Freddy's intentions, and as we usually salute each other when we meet, nothing but his opinion, 'mustn't he?'"

How General Brewster Met His Wife.

A gentleman from Pennsylvania and the reporter were talking last night about ex-Archbishop General Brewster. Reference was made to the fact that Mrs. Brewster was a granddaughter of Benjamin Franklin, and that after her husband died she was a clerk in the Treasury Department.

"I will tell you," said the gentleman from Pennsylvania, "about the first meeting between the ex-Archbishop-General and his wife. Brewster, as a lawyer, had some business before the bureau of the Treasury, which his wife was employed. He went into the room in which she was at work. Looking up and catching a sight of her future husband, she involuntarily exclaimed to the lady seated next to her: 'Well, that is the ugliest man I ever saw in my life.' Brewster took off his hat, and bowing very politely to the surprised lady, said: 'Thank you, madame; I always like to hear a lady speak frankly what she thinks.' An acquaintance followed, and a marriage came after. Brewster has frequently twitted his wife about the first words she ever spoke to him."—Washington Letter.

Sharp California Cobblers.

A short time since some half dozen ladies were discussing foot wear, and it transpired that they all had the same shoemaker, and that he had gradually risen from $12 to $16 a pair for their best shoes. If you find the well-dressed ladies doing their late morning or early afternoon shopping you will find the greater number of them shod with disreputable, run-down-at-the-heel specimens, but don't imagine that poverty or want of better is the cause. The new shoes are being stretched on a large-sized last, and being sewed very poorly to the sole by the maker's, or on the feet of some smaller friend or sister. Ladies try all manner of ready-made articles—always too tight—until they are finally obliged to resort to shoes made to order. The maker, to secure a customer, is at first courteous in his charges; but, as soon as he finds himself to a certain extent indispensable, he increases his price just so much as he thinks they will stand. I have known as high as $20 to be paid for a pair of shoes that gave no outward sign of their value, but their wearers felt it impossible to walk in any other kind. Imagine having to shoe a family of girls afflicted with a like expensive notion.

Randall Scores a Point for Honesty.

The appointment of Dr. Miller as Commissioner of Internal Revenue scores one for Mr. Randall in his courageous fight against Treasury corruption. It is admitted that generalization is a difficult thing to do, and that the only way to secure honesty is to make it a rule for family and medicinal purposes, like Dr. Miller's. Mrs. Winkler, who is absolutely pure and entirely free from the least taint of ordinary fraud, is leading druggists and grocers sell it. The doctor recommends it for pneumonia, diphtheria, malaria, and all pulmonary diseases.

YELLOW SPRINGS.

Dr. Harris is making up an excursion party to go to Mammoth Cave, July 1st.

Win. H. Brown has a Jersey calf killed by the 10 o'clock train, Tuesday. A few days before he was offered $50 for it.

Professor Tufts and the resident members of his surveying class were doing some work on A. G. Adams' farm one day this week.

Rev. E. R. Cull has been elected pastor of the Christian church of this place. He preached his first sermon last Sunday. He is a young man of good ability, hard working, earnest, and a fine speaker.

Geo. W. Muser, of Fairfield, called upon his friends Wednesday. He is sorry to learn that his cheerful presence will not be with us at the normal this summer. He leaves for Switzerland, France, and Italy.

Prof. Frank Hill, curator of the Geological Museum, of Princeton, has arrived and will spend the summer here, as usual, with his family. One of his latest fine pieces of work was the mounting of the skeleton of the Irish Elk.

Miss Mathe Bell will leave for her home in North Carolina, Friday, in company with President Long and family. As she will not return some of her friends, about twenty, called upon her Wednesday evening. President Long will return in a short time, but his family will remain south until near the beginning of next year.

The proprietor of the lime-kiln and quarry is a man of modern ideas. The new kiln constructed is a monster. The lime can be taken away as fast as burned, making the burning continuous. The stone are to be taken up by the elevator and dumped. All drilling is done by steam.

Fred Humphreys, editor of the Review, has gone to attend the marriage of his sister Etta, of Ann Arbor, to E. E. Paine, city editor of the Xenia Telegraph. A. W. Jones is occupying the editorial mantle of the Review during the absence of the editor.

The school board has elected the following teachers for the coming year: Mr. S. Ogden, of Spring Valley, grammar department; Miss Evelyn Hanson, of Selma, intermediate; Miss Lyndon and Mrs. M. King, of Yellow Springs, first and second primary.

Picnic parties came from neighboring towns almost every day. An excursion train of eleven cars arrived from Dayton Thursday.

The Doctor Doctoring.

Some doctors love to prescribe long voyages for very debilitated and failing patients, just to get them out of the way, and not have them die on their hands. Last week the doctor told a poor fellow who can't raise money to buy a new hat, he ought to go to Europe. Better tell such a man to keep his new home and use Brown's Iron Bitters.

Dr. Myers, of Fairfield, Iowa, has tried it extensively among his patients. He says, "it is the best iron preparation I have known of in thirty years of practice."

The following, about an old resident of this city, is from the South Florida Times, of Orange City:

"Mr. M. Lent, who came to this place from Springfield, Ohio, but tall, has been quite successful in growing vegetables of all varieties. During the entire spring he has kept our market supplied with choice vegetables, raising cucumbers, potatoes, squash, tomatoes, &c., in large quantities. He went into an arid garden to commence gardening, and had in a few days the most beautiful spring his eyes would have yielded double the quantity that it did. His garden is on our pine land, and is another evidence of successful gardening in the pine lands of Florida. Mr. L. has also engaged extensively in the culture of strawberries, and will no doubt make it a most remunerative business."

LOCAL NOTICES.

William Hascom, of Duluth, was a laboring man, who in the flush of his power was regarded as a prodigy of strength. One day, while lifting a heavy stone he strained the muscles of his back, and it seemed certain that he would be unable to do any hard manual labor from that time forth. For weeks he was confined to the house, while his family suffered for lack of their usual comforts. He improved up to a certain stage but then came to a standstill. He could not gain strength. One day he was sent to try Musher's Herb Bitters. He did so and with the happiest results. He is again a strong, healthy man, fully able to accomplish a day's work.
